

People in the News

STOCKTON

September 19, 2013 9:00pm

Stephanie Landrum, and Kristine Cassidy will each receive $15,000 Civic Engagement scholarships to attend Drexel University Sacramento's program in Sacramento. The scholarship can be applied to tuition for any of the part-time graduate degree programs offered by Drexel.

Ms. Johnson, senior manager for PG&E's Sacramento division, is enrolled in Drexel's MBA program.

Ms. Landrum, a community benefit health specialist with Kaiser Permanente, is in Drexel's executive masters program in public health.

Ms. Cassidy, an MBA student at Drexel, has worked just over 25 years for the Rideout Health group in Yuba City and its vice president of extended care services.