

A Day on the Edge

Teams of regional business leaders gathered for “A Day on the Edge” carnival and dodgeball tournament at the Teichert branch Boys & Girls Club, a Metro Edge fundraiser benefiting nonprofit organizations in need. Proceeds from this year’s event benefit the Sacramento State Educational Opportunity Program, which serves California residents from low-income households who demonstrate the motivation and potential to earn a bachelor’s degree. Photos: Mike Graffigna

1. Metro Edge is a diverse network of under-40 professionals dedicated to the development of the region. They teamed up this year with the XOSO Sport & Social league, which organized the dodgeball games and is an alternative sports league for adults in Sacramento.

2. Josh Leachman, project manager, Stonebridge Properties; Randy Sater, president, Stonebridge Properties; Ardie Zahedani, principal, RCH Group; and Michael Smith, aggregate resource development project manager, Teichert.

3. Duane Kopp, Scott Gowin, Ken Barnes and Hai Nguyen, all MBA students at Drexel University.

4. Sean O’Brien, financial adviser, Merrill Lynch; Ryann E. Petit-Frere, owner, Ryann E. Consulting; and Alison MacLeod, PR consultant, KP Public Affairs.
